Performance Chart

Overview and Outlook

UAE markets showed some sort of recovery during the month of April after a wave of sell off in March. The Dubai Financial Market index recovered only by 1.60% meanwhile the Abu Dhabi Securities Index outperformed and gained 5.15% during the month.

In Dubai Financial Market investors' interest were focused in stocks like DFM and Gulf Navigation, as both of them controlled the most of trading value during the period. Emaar the biggest weight in the fund moved downward this month with a loss of 3%. On the other side ADSM gains was fueled by price appreciation in banks stocks, and Etisalat which ended the month 7% up. All in all telecommunications and banks were the best performing during the month and real estate was the worst.

Your fund gained 3% underperformed the benchmark by 86 bps mainly because of our overweight in Emaar and the lackluster performance of the stock during the month.

As we expected most of Abu Dhabi banks showed negative growth in their first quarter net profit except for FGB that surprised us by 8% growth in the bottom line, hence we will continue to overweight the stock. Earnings quality of banks continued to improve as the core interest income recorded significant growth, with Deposit and Loans showed healthy growth as well. DIB significantly outperformed the conventional banks as we expected therefore will continue to overweight the stock because of our optimistic outlook for Islamic finance in the region. Emaar and Etisalat also continued with their healthy fundamental performance hence will continue to overweight both stocks.
